

Parent Activities

Read Leonard's Best Spring Ever. Here are activities to do at home. Leonard is busy working on the clubhouse, planting a garden, and chasing butterflies with his friends. They have the best time playing in the spring!

1. Teach your child to swing by using their arms and legs to push and pull.
2. Go on a walk and talk about how new and green everything looks. What color are the flowers blooming? Do you see butterflies flitting about? What color are they?
3. Help your child clean their closet and donate items that are no longer wanted or needed.
4. Play your child's favorite game together, then learn how to play a new one!
5. Plant seeds and watch them grow. Teach your child how to weed, water, and wait.
6. Grocery shop for fresh vegetables and fruits. Name their colors and discuss whether you eat the root, stem, or flower.
7. Talk about opposites, such as tiny/huge, sweet/salty, or sunny/cloudy.
8. Bake a cake together and share it with a friend.
9. Draw flowers and butterflies with sidewalk chalk.
10. Gaze at the night sky together. Notice how the moon looks different each night.
